

CALIBRATED PUSHROD FOR INJECTION VOLUME CONTROL IN PREFILLED SYRINGES

Abstract of the Invention

A pushrod for use with a prefilled syringe containing a known amount of a medical fluid and having a volume, including a shaft having a scale corresponding to the cross-sectional area of the prefilled syringe, a stop configured for location along the shaft, the stop located using the scale in correspondence with a prescribed dosage injected from the prefilled syringe.